Mr. Larry Adelman

The Jewish Federation gave him its special award for volunteerism called the Goldie DuBow Award for outstanding Jewish Community Service.

His service to the community wasn't limited to Jewish concerns. He served on the board of directors of St. Joseph Hospital and received their Blessed Mary Katherine Kasper Award for his service to the St. Joseph Community Health Foundation.

Larry also was a Big Brother for Big Brothers Big Sisters for over 15 years.

He is a strong supporter of Goldman Union Camp Institute – GUCI is a truly special place for their family and all three children attended camp there.

He also had the distinction of overseeing the National Historic Landmark award for the organization's Chief Richardville House, one of the very few Native American sites in the country to receive this distinguished status.
